

OOAA Arquitectura

True and honest silence can cultivate something wonderful. The work of OOAA is a fitting reflection of this. Since 2011, this Spanish architecture studio, that was founded by Iker Ochotorena, develops calm atmospheres that are the result of dedicated time and passion. In the meantime, a team of diverse professionals has been committing to a broad field of expertise that includes architecture, interior design, and finance. The unique characteristics and context of each project result in qualitative designs that always capture the essence of the client's wishes and hopes. According to the studio, their work should be seen as the creation of geometric vacuums and volumes that originate from sincere materials. By pursuing timelessness, they arrive at a serene but warm universe that appeals to a large audience. Furthermore, OOAA finds it important to optimise both their natural and economic resources, which confirms their noble philosophy. We have a great respect for their inspiring work and are confident that the future will only hold more exciting plans for these talented individuals.

Photography by Rafa Diéguez, styled and directed by Iker Ochotorena

